Mission statement

Every child is unique and loved by God

Every child is welcome here. We value the individuality and diversity of the children and their families. This applies regardless of gender, culture or social environment. Every child is supported in each area of their life according to their abilities and accompanied in their development.

We live according to the Christian faith

At our organisation, children receive an early years education based on Christian values; these values serve as both encouragement and orientation for their life. We are open to cultural and religious diversity. Children of all nationalities and denominations are welcome here. We coexist with mutual respect for the culture and way of life of other people. We believe each individual to be valuable and unique.

We give space and time for an individual's development and support and live by the idea of inclusive childcare work

We believe a holistic, high-quality and contemporary early years education in which all areas and content interact with each other in a networked way to be a matter of course. We encourage mental, emotional and physical development in a healthy and safe environment.

We believe in a trusting early years educational partnership

We value trusting coexistence. We acknowledge the changing life situations of families and align what we offer accordingly.

We take the rights of the child as set out in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child very seriously

The child is always at the centre of our educational work. We believe that the child should play an active role in the shaping of their world of living and learning. We are sensitive to gender differences.

We are committed to the interests of children

We develop and pursue shared goals with our cooperation partners (local church community, schools, other institutions). We help and support each other in our endeavours.

We preserve the creation

We manage our resources in a careful and sustainable way, by creating an awareness for both the livelihoods and living conditions of all people and the earth. We are aware that we are setting an example for children and families in this area.

We continue to develop our quality

On the basis of regular further education and training as well as openness to scientific progress, we encourage the further development of our professional and personal skills and thereby create the basis for both quality assurance and development.
